

Junior High News

For the October junior high town hall and tournament day, each homeroom was assigned with the task of creating a classroom door to match our October theme: Spooky, Deep, Dark Sea. Each homeroom incorporated its Under the Sea homeroom mascot into their spectacular designs. To carry the “spirit” of the season, no pun intended, they also added in their own unique, spooky touches. The designs were quite surprising, and each design was student inspired and made. Mr. O’Malley’s homeroom incorporated famous Halloween characters into their design while also using their Under the Sea mascot, the jellyfish. Each jellyfish was creative and handmade. Ms. DeLuca’s homeroom had a stunning hand-drawn shark, their mascot, and they kept the Halloween spirit with some cut-out pumpkins. Mrs. Morgan’s homeroom created an eerie pirate ship with a blob fish, their homeroom symbol, riding on top. Ms. Pegher’s door was one to admire and all of their turtles were beautifully drawn out and artsy. Mrs. Evanchech’s homeroom truly had quite the witty presentation. To show off their competitive nature, they embraced their narwhal as it punctured a shark (another homeroom’s mascot, of course), and it was an overall very fun and colorful door. Mr. Biehl’s homeroom had a very neat and well-articulated design. They had a huge octopus with a glowing background. To conclude the junior high doors, Ms. Hoch’s was one to admire. It had creepy bloody handprints and an alluring stingray. They were all creptastic, but there can only be one winning homeroom. We will all find out which homeroom takes the cake with their breath-taking design and decoration at the Town Hall on October 31! Stay tuned for another junior high update!

Written by Georgia Tsambis and Isaac Versaw